Baby Bird Season Is Here Again

Spring is here and so are the babies. Baby Bird Season is now in full swing. We have our wonderful volunteers working hard to feed all the hungry babies.

Last year we helped over 2500 birds. So far this year we have had 680 admits, and more coming in daily. We are nearly ready to release 3 Western Scrub Jays with our soft release cages, that one of our volunteers will take home and slowly release.

Nestling Anna's Hummingbird

This little hummingbird was brought into us by a caring citizen after falling from the nest. We continue to stabilize them, watch vital signs and then we begin feeding every 30 minutes. We usually offer fresh flowers right away so they can start recognizing and interacting with their food.

Pied Billed Grebe

This little Grebe came to us at about one month old. We were able to stabilize and fill the belly before it was transferred to IBRRC in Fairfield. Dedicated volunteers transfer our water birds just about every day during Baby Bird Season.

Monthly Open House

Open house is the first Saturday of every month from 10am to 1pm.
